SUMMARY: The Mas(s)oretic Text is a very accurate consistent Old Testament with few variants dating from about 1000 AD.

HEBREW SCRIBAL GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines given in the Jewish Talmud for the copying of biblical manuscripts.

- Source: Messianic Jew, San Antonio, TX

- 1. The parchment had to be made from the skin of a clean animal (a kosher animal), prepared by a Jew only, and must be fastened by strings made from the skins of clean animals.
- 2. Each column must have no less than 48 or more than 60 lines.
- 3. The ink must be of no other color than black, and had to be prepared according to a special recipe.
- 4. No word or letter could be written from memory; the scribe must have an authentic copy before him, and he had to read and pronounce aloud each word before writing it.
- 5. The scribe had to reverently wipe his pen each time before writing the word for God, and had to wash his whole body in the mikvah (that's the ceremonial bath, or baptistery) before writing the sacred name Jehovah.
- 6. One mistake on a sheet condemned the sheet; if three mistakes were found on any page, the entire manuscript was condemned.
- 7. Every word and every letter was counted, and if a letter was omitted, an extra letter inserted, or if one letter touched another, the manuscript was condemned and destroyed at once.

A Jewish scribe was also told that while he was writing if even a king would enter the room and speak with him, the scribe was to ignore him until he finished the page he was working on, lest he make a mistake.

THE MAS(S)ORETIC TEXT: BASIS OF OUR OLD TESTAMENT

BEN ASHER TEXT, ca. 900 - 950 AD

(ALLEPPO TEXT, ca 915 AD, oldest complete OT)

(LENINGRAD CODEX, ca. 1005, next oldest)

BASIS OF BEN CHAYYIM TEXT OF 1517 AD
- 4 Volumes & basis of Textus Receptus OT

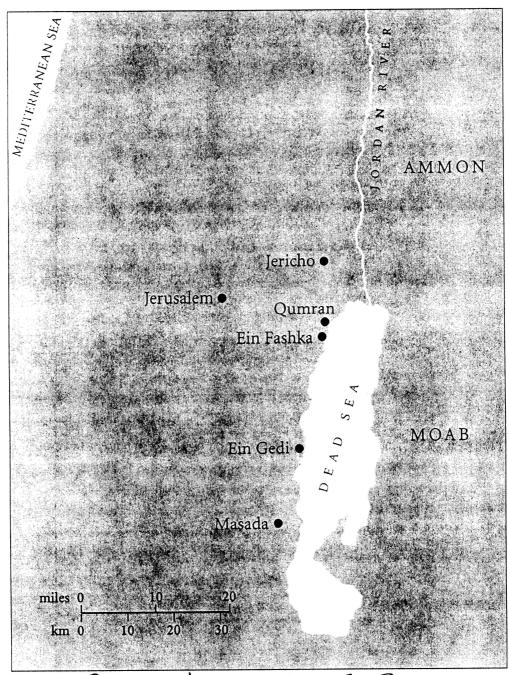

KITTEL'S TEXT (3rd Edition), our present Hebrew OT

II. The Dead Sea Scrolls

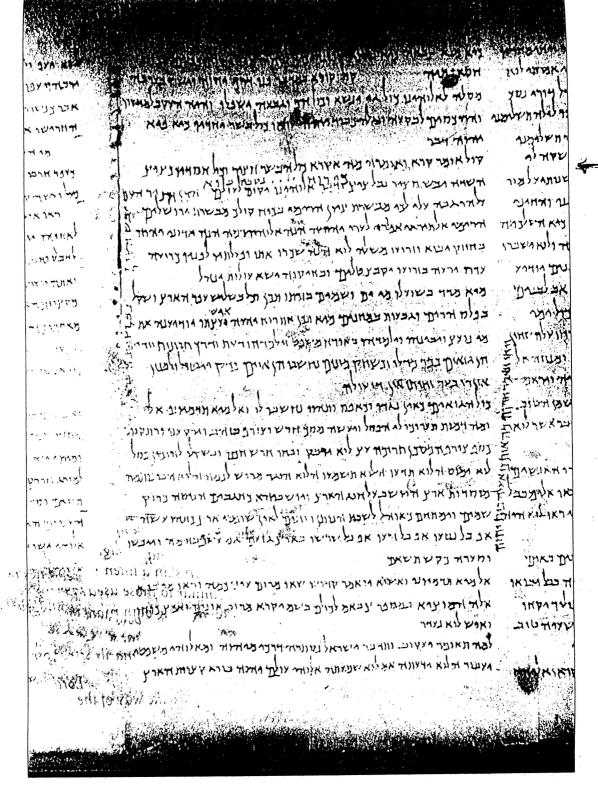

- A. Ca. 800 scrolls discovered in 1947
- B. Complete scroll of Isaiah (22 of these discovered)
- C. Fragments of every Old Testament book except Esther
- D. Dates of scrolls 150 BC 100 AD
- E. Differences with Massoretic Text, negligible

NET RESULT: Dead Sea Scrolls plus work of the Mas(s)oretes

- 1. A very fixed Hebrew Text of the O.T.
- 2. Variants are few.
- 3. Dead Sea Scrolls affirm that dependability of the Mas(s)oretic Text.

QUMRANE AREA OF DEAD SEA SCROLLS

COLOR PLATE IV

The scroll of Isaiah. Although many of the Qumran scrolls were found in fragments, some, like this Isaiah scroll, were largely intact. On the left side of the leather skin a linen thread ties two pieces together. Written in square, Aramaic Hebrew letters, similar to those used today, the scroll contains some scribal corrections and additions to the text along both margins and above the seventh line of text. In the insertion above line seven are four dots that serve as a substitute for the four-letter Hebrew name of Israel's God, yod heh vav heh, customarily spelled Yahweh in modern texts. This column of text (Isaiah 40:2-28) surely resonated for the religious sect that had retreated to the Judean wilderness: "In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord" (Isaiah 40:3).
